Do we really have to leave home in order to travel? Isn't the exotic closer than we might think? And exploring, primarily, a question of looking at things differently? So suggests Christophe Chabouté in his new album Plus loin qu'ailleurs (Éditions Glénat).

Plus loin qu'ailleurs is the story of a carpark attendant who is planning the journey of a lifetime – to Alaska. However, a last-minute cancellation and a fall at the airport, which puts him on crutches, takes our hero back to square one. Or almost. Rather than returning home, he books himself into a hotel opposite his flat, resolving to wander through his own neighbourhood instead. Having wished to explore an uninhabited wilderness, he ends up exploring a place that is equally unfamiliar – what lies in his own backyard.

Christophe Chabouté constructs a narrative of great finesse and poetic resonance, inviting us to reflect on how we all perceive our environment. His original pages – complete with collages and material garnered in the service of the narrative – closely reflect his theme. Each plate, beautifully drawn in Indian ink, thus forms part of the quest, the adventure that unfolds before our eyes.

Huberty & Breyne is delighted to be showing a selection of forty original pages from Plus loin qu'ailleurs at its Paris | Chapon gallery from 16 May to 14 June.

HUBERTY & BREYNE

Huberty & Breyne is a contemporary art gallery specializing in comic books, founded in 1989 and now run by Alain Huberty and Marie-Caroline Bronzini. With locations in Brussels and Paris, it promotes established and emerging artists linked to or inspired by the 9th art.

Its exhibitions of original comic strips, paintings, and sculptures support contemporary creation in all its diversity and the blending of disciplines. An international reference in the field of the ninth art, it offers collectors a rigorous selection of works by classic and promising artists.

The gallery takes part in major art market events, participating in international fairs such as Brafa, Art Paris, and Drawing Now. It has a 1,000 m² space in Brussels, on Place du Châtelain, and two spaces in Paris, on Avenue Matignon and Rue Chapon.

In addition to his gallery activities, Alain Huberty is a comic book expert for auction houses.
